What's New in the GM Color Code Picker?

The GM Color Code Picker is a program to retrieve GM color codes from a CD with a huge database of color codes. The program requires the following: 1. CD-ROM with a color database, either CD-R or CD-RW. 2. A CD player. 3. This application for the color database. 4. A tablet PC. 5. Windows 98 SE or 2000. 6. One year free registration with GMcolorcode.com. 7. Internet connection. 8. A connection to a color database (The program will connect to GMcolorcode.com. For your convenience the program can connect automatically by registering in GMcolorcode.com). Note: If you are a GM owner you can register for free in GMcolorcode.com. If you are a dealer you must be registered at GMcolorcode.com. For your convenience it is possible to use several CD-ROM's at once with this application. As you use the application there will be a database generated which will only be updated when a new color is added. This is a database with the complete colour code database for GM for all years and all models in 1 CD-ROM. Comments and suggestions to the application are welcome. Hover over the program title to see more details on the application. Thanks for using this application. What's New in This Release: The program now has the ability to connect to GMcolorcode.com automatically, by registering at GMcolorcode.com. Please note: If you are using a CD-RW drive you must be a registered user at GMcolorcode.com to use the "register automatically" button. License: This free program is the property of GMColorCode.com and is Copyright (C) 2000 GMColorCode.com. It is free for personal use and is only limited by the non-commercial restriction. You can not add it to your own website or link to any non-GM website. The application can only be used on a single PC. It can be used in one application at a time. The program is free for personal use only. It can not be used for commercial use. In the Options dialog you can change the look and feel of the application. There are different menus, the application can be made smaller or larger, several sounds can be played in the background, the font can be changed, the focus can be set on a particular field, or a list of personal settings can be saved. Custom Colors: You can now create your own custom colors. These can be used in the palettes. This is only possible if you have a registered user account on GMcolorcode.com. If you are not registered you will have to click the "Register automatically" button to use the color you have created. If you are using a CD-RW drive you
